End War or Risk Collapse, 'Mac' Tells Reds

Nobody Likes To Fight on A Holiday

And Easter Is Forlorn Time For GI at War

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Easter is a forlorn time to a man in a foxhole.

It is one of the saddest of seasons to the average soldier, particularly if he has had religious training.

Nobody likes to fight on a holiday. Who wants to be killed or wounded on Thanksgiving or Christmas?

But Easter time hits many a soldier with a double nostalgia. He thinks long, long thoughts about his task. He looks at his rifle with distaste. He not only doesn't want to have to fire it—he wishes he didn't even have to touch it.

* * *

MANY AMERICAN SOLDIERS hust be thinking those long, long thoughts right now in faroff Korea. Easter comes to the troops in different ways.

On the actual frontline all the men can do is stick where they are . . . hope the enemy won't attack . . . and dream of home . . . and be a little sick in their hearts.

* * *

THEY LOOK FROM their foxholes and see a land where men are at strife and nature is at peace. The brown on the hills is turning to green. Buds are bursting on apple trees. Two sparrows are debating their nest.

"What if Jesus Christ came up that road instead of a Chinaman?" a third soldier says. They think that over a minute, and a corporal remarks:

"Nobody'd even know him."

"I would," says a young private softly. And his hand leaves his rifle and reaches over and touches the small Bible in his breast pocket.

* * *

BACK AT REGIMENT the men are lining up for chow.

"What — powdered eggs for Easter?" grumbles a soldier. Everybody laughs, remembering his childhood, and one says:

"You'd think they would at least dye them a diferent color wouldn't you? That's the army for you—no consideration for a man's feelings."

* * *

IN A NEARBY TENT the chaplains are holding services. This goes on for hours. Small groups of men are brought back from the front in turn, kneel together and are knit in prayer. Then they put on their helmets, pick up their rifles and trudge back to the arena of death. But they are comforted.

In cities there are the strangest Easter parades on earth. Uniformed American soldiers and white clad Korean civilians mingle as they enter the same churches and worship together.

* * *

THEY HEAR THE OLD, old story together. What difference does it make what tongue it is told in? And when they come out again into the sunshine together there is a new bond between the American soldiers and the Koreans that none will ever quite forget—the sharing of the Easter dream.

Offers to Meet Chinese Leader For Peace Talk

Chinese Have Lost Chance to Conquer Peninsula He Says

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO — (AP) — Gen. MacArthur today called upon Peiping to settle the Korean war before it exposes all of Red China to the "risk of imminent military collapse."

"There should be no insuperable difficulty" in settling Korean problems, he said, because the Chinese have lost their chance to conquer the peninsula.

The general made his peace bid in a statement before going to Korea where he ordered his troops to cross the 38th parallel "if and when its curity makes it tactically advisable."

MacArthur said superior firepower and control of the air and sea have overwhelmed Chinese manpower.

The supreme commander offered to confer in the field with the Communist commander - in - chief, generally believed to be a Chinese, to work our military details of a peace.

But a settlement, he emphasized, would be based on realizing the "political objectives of the United Nations in Korea." These remain unchanged from the original directive of unifying the peninsula.

As an implied alternative, MacArthur said:

Red China Doomed

". . . A decision by the United Nations to depart from its tolerant effort to contain the war to the area of Korea, through an expansion of our military operations to his coastal areas and interior bases, would doom Red China to the risk of imminent military collapse.

The general's statement was made as—for the second time—powerful United Nations forces are approaching parallel 38, the border to Red Korea.

"We have now substantially cleared South Korea of organized Communist forces," MacArthur declared.

Six months ago a demand for unconditional surrender, broadcast to North Korean Minister Kim Il Sung, went unanswered.

No Concessions Needed

Since then Red China entered the war and drove United Nations forces deep into South Korea. Now the UN allies are on the way back.

MacArthur told world diplomats that, in his opinion, no special con-

Auto Crashes Farm Machine, Farmer Held

HARMON—The driver of a car and seven young passengers escaped injury Friday when the auto crashed into a heavy piece of farm machinery on Rt. 30 near the Harmon spur at 4 p. m.

Fred Whitmore, 69, Harmon, was arrested by State Officers George Kiner and James Risenow for failing to yield the highway. Conrad Gillespie, 40, Mansfield, had as his passengers his three children, Joyce, 11; Tom, 7, and Sharon, 4. Also he had four other youngsters in the car, Tom, Catherine Sandra, and Tommy McCleary, Bell Flower, Ill.

Officers said Whitmore stopped before driving onto the highway but pulled out in front of the Gillespie auto.

Brawl Brings $50 Fines to Dixon Pair

A fight outside a Dixon tavern brought fines of $50 and costs to Robert Rutherford, Rt. 3, Dixon, and Ernest Kavadas, 1015 W. Sixth st.

Both pleaded guilty to assault and battery when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Sterling W. Schrock Friday afternoon. They were accused of striking Enman Delph, 40, Dixon, about the face and head. Delph was hospitalized overnight with a cut over the left eye and a swollen upper lip.

The complaint was signed by John Perrelli. Rutherford and Kavadas allegedly attacked Mr. and Mrs. Perrelli and Delph in a parking lot in the 100 block of Highland avenue.

The pair were arrested at 12:20 a. m. Friday by officers Raymond Olson and John Woodyatt. They were held in the county jail.

Arraignment of Rutherford and Kavadas was delayed until Friday afternoon while Assistant State's Attorney George Nichols checked Delph's condition to determine if the state would press charges.

Unconfirmed Reports Say Rafts Sighted

40 Planes, Five Ships to Scene Of Air Disaster

SHANNON AIRPORT — (AP) — Forty planes criss-crossed the cold waters of the Atlantic today in a hunt for a giant United States air force transport with 53 persons aboard. They were spurred by a report that "quite a few" life rafts had been sighted in the search area.

Five ships were steaming for the area about 450 miles west of Ireland.

An NBC broadcast from London quoted the British admiralty as source for information that survivors already were being picked up. The admiralty denied it had issued such a report. It could not be confirmed by the U. S. navy in London or the U. S. air force mission at Shannon, either.

A B-29 pilot, in two dramatic radio messages, reported sighting flares, wreckage or life rafts in four different locations in the general search area. His plane was not equipped to drop lifeboats or provisions, but several other in the area were.

American, British and Irish airplanes joined the search above the wind-tossed waters off the Irish coast in one of history's greatest sea hunts. Aboard the missing plane which disappeared in fog and rain early yesterday was Brig. Gen. Paul T. Cullen, deputy commander of the U. S. Second air force, and four officers of the Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

Sights Nothing

One B-29 pilot returned to rescue headquarters at Shannon saying he had sighted nothing in the area where the wreckage and rafts had been reported. He was Lt. Herschel H. Lamb of Twin Falls, Idaho. Air force officials said drift or navigational errors could account for the discrepancy.

The pilot who had made the first report had not yet returned to Shannon.

Hunters had good visibility today but the sea was rough. Air force officials feared that survivors might perish of exposure before rescue.

Five Ships to Rescue

The five ships rushing to the scene were the two U. S. military transport vessels, the General Muir and the Golden Eagle, the British submarine Thule and the international weather ships Jig and Charlie. Thule, at last report, was only 40 miles away from the spot where rafts were reported.

The Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth, both in the Atlantic, were not likely to be diverted to the hunt. Cunard steamship sources said the Queen Mary, en route to New York, was beyond the last reported position of the plane—500 miles southwest of the Irish coast. The Queen Elizabeth, on the way to Southampton, would not have reached the area.

Speed Rafts to Scene

A U. S. Skymaster and B-17 equipped with lifeboats that could be dropped by parachute flew to the scene from the U. S. air rescue station here. A Superfortress was

New Crop of Headaches Hit U. S. Mobilization; Tires Curbed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new crop of price, wage and production problems sprang up today to plague the nation's mobilization officials.

One of these—the pay raise claims of 1,000,000 railroad workers—posed a major threat to wage stabilization.

Another—a 25 per cent slash in tire and tube deliveries for new passenger cars—appeared certain to bring strong protests from the automobile industry and some auto buyers.

At New High

The cost-of-living index hit a new high as of Feb. 15. It climbed 1.3 points in the receding month to 183.8 per cent of the 1935-39 base period. This was eight per cent above the pre-Korean war level for June, 1950.

The cut in tires for new passenger cars was even deeper than the 20 per cent reduction in steel for automobiles which previously had been ordered.

It is effective April 1, the National Production Authority (NPA) announced last night. NPA also disclosed that tire inventories of distributors, including wholesalers and retailers, will be limited after that date to a 30-day supply.

Set Limits

The NPA said manufacturers will be allowed to deliver only 75 per cent as many tires and tubes to pasenger car makers for use as original equipment during the second quarter of this year as during the first quarter.

Officials indicated the cut was ordered because of mounting defense use of rubber and a loss of about 4,000 long tons in the production of synthetic rubber expected in April. Fires and other operational difficulties at synthetic plants were blamed for the expected production drop.

In other new developments in the mobilization drive:

1. President Truman signed bills to (A) extend rent control for three months through June 30 and (B) authorize the government to renegotiate defense contracts and recapture excessive profits.

2. Retail sales slipped off somewhat, providing a lull in the inflation storm, but wholesale price levels climbed to another new record as of March 20.

Within 10 Days

3. At Cincinnati, Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle said three new food regulations within the week will set price ceilings on 65 per cent of the items a grocer sells. He added that manufacturers' rollbacks previously outlined would be forthcoming within 10 days.

4 At Columbus, O., Gov. Frank J. Lausche said half a dozen Ohio meat packers are demanding overceiling prices to continue deliveries to state institutions. He asked Washington for help.

DiSalle told a reported the proposed new food regulations "will control the prices of everything but fresh fruits and vegetables."

Argentina Claims New Atom Method

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—President Juan D. Peron announced today that Argentina has produced atomic energy by a new method unknown to other countries

Peron told a news conference that through "thermonuclear reactions" Argentine scientists on Feb. 15 obtained the "controlled release of atomic energy."

He said successful experiments took place at the government's atomic energy pilot plant at Huemul island near San Carlos de Bariloche. The island is near the Chilean border about 850 airline miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

State 4th in Farm Income

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Illinois farmers had $1,720,080,000 in cash receipts from crop and livestock marketings last year to place fourth in the nation, the department of agriculture reported today.

California topped the list with cash receipts of $2,160,440,000. Iowa, $2,058,101,000, was second, and Texas, $1,993,263,000, third.

The four states have formed the first quartet every year for the last decade

The department said final 1950 figures show there was an average decrease over the country of one per cent in receipts from farm marketings . In two thirds of the states, such income was less than five per cent above or below the 1949 levels.

'Fair Weather' Is Forecast for Most of Nation Easter Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair weather appeared in prospect for most of the nation Easter Sunday.

But it looks like milady will wear her winter wraps and galoshes in the Easter parade in some parts of the midwest and northeast.

Generally clear skies were forecast for tmorrow, but the cold weather which hit midwest areas today was pushing eastward and was expected to cover the eastern states by Sunday morning.

It will be a white Easter for many midwest areas. Fresh falls of snow, measuring from two to six inches, hit parts of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan Rochester, Minn., reported a fall measuring six inches and there was a fresh fall five inches deep in Wausau, Wis.

The snow storm centered in eastern lower Michigan today. Winds up to 50 miles an hour were reported around the storm center.

There were flurries in nearby states and showers and thunderstorms to the east from the Appalachians northeastward to New England.

It was near zero in northern Minnesota and parts of North Dakota today and far below ffreezing over the north central states. Some warming ws forecst for tomorrow afternoon—but it was expected to be chilly Sunday morning.

Four Injured in Three-Car Smash-Up West of Dixon

Three cars were involved in an accident at 5:30 p. m. Friday five miles west of Dixon on Alt. 30, which hospitalized four persons.

Newton McCoy, 40, Avon, Ill., is in "critical" condition at KSB hospital. His wife is listed as "fair," and their two children, George Francis, 6, and Daniel Frank, 11, are "good." Another child, Newton, Jr., 9, was not injured.

State Police Officers Herbert S. Spealman, Chadwick, and Stephen Adee, Milledgeville, said the McCoy auto preceeding east skidded on a curve, sideswiped an auto driven by Ethel Daniels, 60, Crookston, Minn., collided head-one with a car driven by W. S. Livermore, 52, Rock Island, then plunged into a ditch. Neither Livermore or Mrs. Daniels were injured.

McCoy's injuries were listed as a skull fracture, internal injuries and cuts. He was thrown from his car by the crash. Mrs. McCoy sustained lacerations of the face and head and serious abdominal and chest injuries. The children received bruises and suffered shock.

Three Men 'Call' on Costello

NEW YORK, (AP)—Police reported three men, one of them armed, failed to gain entry today to the apartment of gambler Frank Costello, a witness this week at the senate crime committee hearing in New York.

Costello was not at home. He had told the committee he ordinarily kept $40,000 to $50,000 in cash in the apartment, located on the 18th floor of a building overlooking Central Park.

Police said the three men forced an elevator operator to take them to the apartment, but did not indicate what they wanted

After failing to gain entry, the three returned to the first floor, rushed outside, and fled in an automobile driven by a fourth man.

The men apparently lost interest after learning that Costello was not home.

Whether this indicated they intended to do him harm was unclear.

Elevator operators Thomas Gogin and Joseph Percabelli told police the three entered the apartment lobby at about 4:25 a. m.

All said "Hello," then one drew a gun and said:

"Take us to Costello's apartment."

Cities Should Clean Out Own Underworlds -- Sen. Kefauver

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) of the senate crime committee said today the time has come for American cities to clean out their own unsavory underworlds without congressional help.

Despite mounting pressure for the committee to extend its investigation beyong the scheduled March 31 deadline, Kekauver steadfastly refused to go along with the idea.

"We don't want to get into the position where the people are depending on congressional committees to ferret out the details of crime in their communities," he told reporters. "This is the appropriate time to stop."

Should Be Given Chance

He said reaction to the investigation has demonstrated the people are determined to do something about crime in their communities, and "I think they should be given a chance to do it. Local communities should not depend on congressional committees."

In a broadcast on the CBS program "Hear It Now," last night Kefauver said, "Legalized gambling is not the answer" to organized crime in the country.

He said his committee's report will note this. He did not say, in the broadcast, what he does consider the answer to gambling and allied criminal activity.

Two Witnesses Today

With only a week to go—unless an extension is voted over Kefauver's protest—the committee arranged for two witnesses to appear today in an unusual pre-Easter hearing.

The witnesses were identified as Louis Farrell of Des Moines, Ia., whose name has cropped up in the hearings at Kansas City and Chicago, and Sidney Brodson, reputed Milwaukee betting commissioner.

Coincidentally, Farrell probably will be asked about the details of an event that also happened on another Saturday before Easter.

U. S. Crime Quiz Gets Little Notice Overseas; Foreigners Have Seen It All in Movies

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

It will strke a lot of folk as more than passing strange that very little interest has been shown abroad in the sensations developed by the U. S. senate crimes investigating committee.

One reason undoubtedly is that the average foreign country, the world over has so many troubles of its own today that it finds small time for the worries of others. However, I got another slant when I asked an English woman for an explanation. She turned a saucy eye on me and said:

"The chief reason for lack of interest in England probably is that we have been led to believe gangsters influence is a part of America's life. It's routine. Motion pictures have helped cultimate this idea."

Accept It as True

Well, that undoubtedly is at least a partial explanation not only as regards England but many other countries. Untold milions abroad have come to accept the gangster and the two-gun westerner as true. Their education has been completed by the portrayals of multi-millionaire luxury.

The result is that foreigners as a whole divide Americans up into three classes: Millionaires, gangsters and cowboys.

I have spent much time abroad during the past generation and have encountered some amazing notions about America and her people. For instance when I first hit England during World War I there was a widespread belief that wild Indians still roved the plains about Chicago. I mentioned this to an English friend yesterday and asked if any such idea still exists

Still Believe It

"It certainly does," he replied. "I have encountered it recently myself."

Obviously much of the misinformation is due to lack of personal observation in America. The foreigner who has traveled in the United States finds his strange ideas dissipated and he gets a new perspective. And that cuts both ways, for many Americans have false notions about foreign lands which could be cured by travel.

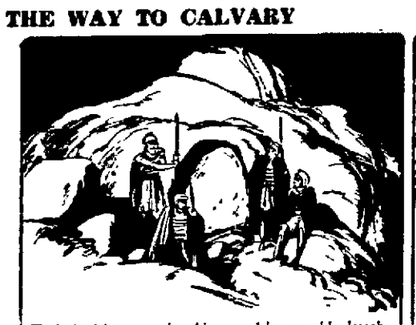

At this juncture in our dissertation someone arises to remark that it's all very well to talk about acquaintance by travel, but who finances these jaunts? That is to the point, and not easy to answer.

However, in seeking a solution one is struck by the fact that the nations of the world are spending untold billions in all sorts of projects, many of them calculated to foster better relations among nations. Some persons have asked:

What's the matter with diverting some of these billions to enabling public spirited citizens of various countries to visit other lands?

You could move a lot of educators with a billion dollars. And could remove a lot of misunderstandings, such as that gangsterism is a wholesale and routine part of America's way of life.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

The body of Jesus was placed in a sepulchre owned by Joseph of Arimathea who had permission from Pilate to bury Him there. Soldiers were placed on guard at the tomb, lest His body be stolen, and a great stone sealed the entrance.

But when Mary Magdalene and "the other Mary" came to anoint His body with spices, they found the stone rolled back, and "a young man clothed with a white robe," who told them, "He is risen."

Resurrection

And as they went to tell His disciples, wrote Matthew, Jesus met them, saying, "All hail!" And He bade them tell His disciples to meet Him in Galilee, where He came and bade them to go forth and teach all nations . . . "and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Wake up to new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil — the oil that contains the amazing chemical ingredient RD-119, developed by Sinclair Research.

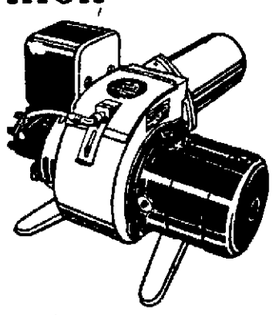

RD-119 assures you a purer, cleaner fuel oil than ever because it stops rust in the pipe lines, tank cars and trucks which carry the oil from the refinery to your home. In your burner, RD-119 protects against rust and corrosion that clog strainers and burner nozzle—protects against the excessive wear on burner parts caused by abrasive rust particles.

Yet new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil costs no more than ordinary fuel oil. Phone us today.

Ashton Students To Give Concert

A spring music concert will be presented by students in the music departments of the Ashton high school Tuesday, March 27.

The concert will be directed by Burton Skelly and Mrs. Ruth Boyd Gustafson and will be sponsored by the vocal and instrumental departments. The concert will give Ashton people an opportunity to hear the local participants in the district contests March 31 and April 7.

BERNARD L. FRAZER, right, and Kenneth J. Lonsberry have opened a joint insurance and accounting office in Dixon at 76½ S. Galena ave. The office will be open for consultation afternoons Monday through Friday. Frazer, who was graduated from Dixon high school in 1942 and holds a B.S. degree in journalism from the University of Illinois, served in the army engineers during World War II. He has attended the John Hancock home office school in estate analysis and advanced underwriting. Lonsberry attended the University of Minnesota. He spent 13 years in industrial engineering and tax consultant work. During World War II he served under Gen. Patton in the Third Army.

Pentagon's Brass Makes Many Appearances Before Congress

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Pentagon's big brass have to take a lot of time out from their actual defense work to talk about it to congress.

It's a necessary task since congress, which makes the laws to back defense, wants to know first hand from the brass what their plans are and why.

Sometimes congress may overdo the demands it makes on the time of the Pentagon chiefs. But that's one of those things.

Secretary of Defense Marshall has had to make the trip to the capitol at least 10 times since taking office last September.

But Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary, is the one who has spent far and away the most time on the hill. But her case is extraordinary.

Cleared Loyalty

Before she was able to take office she was accused of being a Communist. That charge had to be examined. It turned out to be ridiuculous.

But she had to face the lawmakers six times to brand the charge a lie, confront her accuser, and clear her name.

Then soon after becoming assistant secretary, with the job of working out a manpower program, she had to start dashing up to the capitol. She's made 13 trips, plus the six on the Communism charge.

There's no record of the times she was called up for informal discussions with members of congress.

Other V.I.P.'s

These other very important people have had to make their visit, too: Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chief of staff of th army; Adm. Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations; Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the air force; and assistant secrearies in the department of defense.

But when any of these people ace the lawmakers they're not done. They have to bring staffs with them to fill them in on some detail or answer a specific question of a member of congress.

Even before the V.I.P.'s go to the hill, a lot of time is used in getting them ready for their appearance.

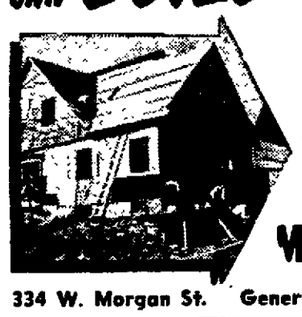

Staff Briefs Them

They have staffs to brief them on what they'll say and even anticipate questions which may be asked so they'll have ready answers.

And all this is only one part of the picture, since it deals exclusively with congress and the Pentagon people.

The same is true, more or less, for the other heads of government departments and agencies, particularly Secretary of State Dean Acheson who has to duck away from foreign affairs many times to answer lawmakers' questions or explain a shift in policy.

Man 'Angry at the World' Admits Slaying Stranger

CHICAGO— (AP) —Police said a young man "angry at the world" last night admitted the unprovoked slaying of a 65-year-old stranger.

Held without formal charge is Ray Hennemann, 22, also known as Tom Bruno.

Police Capt. Redmond Gibbons called the slaying of Otto Vollenweider, a milk wagon driver, "the most meaningless murder I've ever investigated." Vollenweider was robbed of 57 cents.

Gibbons said Hennemann also admitted slugging another stranger, Joseph Vieracker, 48, twenty-five minutes before the attack on Vollenweider early Sunday. Vieracker has been hospitalized with a skull fracture. Twenty cents was taken from his pocket.

Quarreled With Wife

The captain said Hennemann explained the attacks as a result of his being "angry at the world" following a quarrel with his wife.

He said Hennemann denied the men were robbed.

The officer said Clifford Edwards, 21, who was with Hennemann during both attacks, named Hennemann as Vollenweider's assailant. Edwards also is held without charge.

Henneman surrendered early yesterday at Braidwood, Ill., after visiting his wife's father, Phil Zobac, in Coal City.

Vollenweider was found beaten and died a few hours later of head injuries.

Just Hit Them

Gibbons said Edwards related that just before the Vollenweider attack, Hennemann said, "I'm going to lay it on this guy" and then proceeded to beat the elderly man.

Edwards related that after the slugging of Vollenweider, he and Hennemann went to a neighborhood tavern where Hennemann picked up his wife and went home, Gibbons said.

Police Chief George Bohac of Braidwood, where Hennemann surrendered, said the youth admitted beating Vollenweider but said he didn't know the man had died.

Post-Easter Bargain Sales May Develop to Ease Stocks

NEW YORK, (AP)—Easter will bring a stock-taking in many industries. The big shift to half-war economy is under way. And this has been quite a week.

The television industry learned this week that plunging reputations can be even more fascinating than plunging necklines.

Now the industry seems in for prolonged debate over the ethics of selling public spectacles to sponsors in the future.

It also is caught in the log-jam of inventories that plague many departments of retail stores. Some television set makers are cutting prices; some are cutting production.

May Get Relief

The post-Easter season may bring some relief, if the federal communications commission goes through with its proposal to end the present freeze on new TV stations. Areas around present stations are often well saturated with sets. New selling areas are eagerly sought by the industry.

Easter may bring new tactics in many retail stores. Merchants had pinned their hopes on a big Easter business to move large inventories of apparel and textiles, and even of home appliances. In many cases the big business didn't materialize.

Store Sales Climb

Department store sales in the nation last week ran 11 per cent in dollar volume above the similar calendar week a year ago, but in New York City the sales were two per cent below those in the similar second week before Easter last year; that is, the week ending April 1, 1950. Since prices are much higher now than then, unit sales volume must have been much lower.

The price control planners in Washington say bargain sales should be the order of the day after Easter.

Easter Monday will find some employes laid off here and there around the nation, because of confusion in shifting from civilian to defense production with the attendant freezing of prices and cutbacks in raw materials.

State Draft Quota 2,240

CHICAGO, (AP) — Illinois' share of the April draft quota will be 2,240 men, the state Selective Service headquarters announced yesterday.

In accordance with the national cut in draft quotas the Illinois quota was lowered from 4,481.

The new figure is the lowest draft call since inductions began last September. Lowest previous quota was 2,637 in December, with the highest, 5,009 in February.

Ashton Votes April 17 On Tax Levy

Two special tax levies will be placed before the voters of Ashton April 17. One will call for funds for the care of the cemetery and the other for added police protection. The voting will be at the same time as the regular Village election with the polling place in the town hall.

As the town board is restricted in its appropriations by the Butler act, the special election is seen by the board as the only method to raise the necessary funds for maintaining these two services.

Income from care funds for the cemetery, which recently came under town control, have been found insufficient for maintenance. And the money in the general tax fund is seen as insufficient by the board for maintaining adequate police protection.

Recently the board was forced to relieve night policeman Ronald Linscott from duty because of insufficient funds.

Oregon Views Saturday Store Hour Change

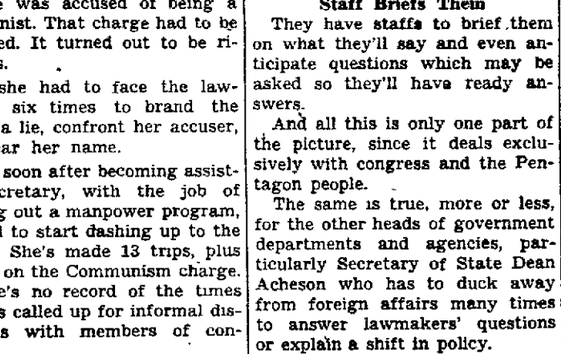

Oregon stores may close Saturday nights if proposals of the chamber of commerce are adopted at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 29, at te WRC hall.

Chamber members cite the fact that stores in Rockford and Sterling are now closed Saturday evenings and that store owners in DeKalb and Dixon are considering a similar change.

Under the proposed change Oregon stores would close at 6 p.m. on Saturday and would not open until noon Monday. The stores would remain open until 9 p.m. Monday night.

Invitations have been sent to representatives from Rochelle, Mt. Morris, Byron and Polo, to attend the meeting so that the views of these communities can be obtained.

All Building Now Governed by New State Fire Code

Program Calls For Barriers As Protection

Classify Commercial Structures in Plan

SPRINGFIELD. — The State of Illinois new—and first comprehensive— fire code, establishing regulations for fire protection, fire alarm and control devices and exits, was released recently by the department of public safety.

According to State Fire Marshal Otto C. Dahl, the new regulations require adequate warning devices to be installed in certain types of public buildings to provide all persons an opportunity to escape before a fire reaches a point preventing evacuation.

Install Barriers

Dahl said the new code also provides for the installation of smoke and flame barriers, including fire doors and fire screens at open stairways and shafts, to prevent a fire in such an area from quickly spreading throughout a building. Dahl said that such devices tend to confine a fire in one area, thus providing a great advantage to fire departments trying to extinguish the blaze and reduce property loss.

The new Illinois fire code is the result of legislation enacted in 1949 requiring the department of public safety to establish certain rules and regulations with regard to fire protection. The rules and regulations in the new Illinois fire code have, in general, been adopted either in part or in full from nationally recognized fire prevention agencies.

Classify Buildings

For the purpose of the new fire regulations all buildings construction is classified into seven types — fireproof construction, heavy timber construction, ordinary construction, non-combustible construction, wood frame construction, unprotected metal construction—but the type of construction is to be governed by local law or ordinance. In the matter of interior finish, the code also leaves interior wall and ceiling finish and trim in buildings hereafter erected or redecorated to the requirements of local law or ordinance.

Types Covered

The new code embraces residence buildings, business buildings, hazardous use occupancies, institutional buildings, theaters, buildings of public assembly churches, schools, and garages, hangars and public utilities. Special sections of the code deal with permissible scenery and decorations, fire alarm systems, exits, stairways, fire escapes, electrical equipment, sprinkler systems, stand pipes and heating equipment.

The code empowers the state fire marshal to make, or cause to be made, inspections of buildings to determine their conformity with the provisions of the new code but gives the fire marshal authority to delegate such powers of inspection to the chiefs of local fire departments, or subordinates, for their local areas. Penalties are provided for the various violations of the code.

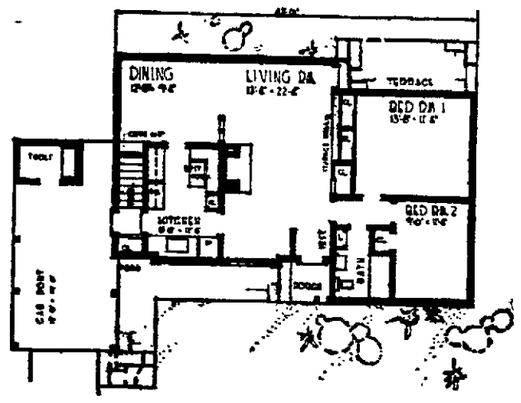

Dress Up Window With Cornices

Dress up your living room by fitting the windows with easy-to-make cornices. In fact, a cornice adds to the attractiveness of almost any window in the home. One type is made by forming a framework in the shape of an inverted U from one by six inch dressed lumber and fastening it to the window frame. Over this nail is a strip of quarter-inch hardboard. Curtain rods fasten inside the end pieces of lumber. Finish with a prime coat and two coats of paint.

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, kept a room in Washington cool during oppressive summer heat by an installation involving large blocks of ice in the attic.

House Roomy, Economical

Generously proportioned rooms feature this house, designed with an awareness of current building costs. It is Plan No. 203 of Walter T. Anicka, architect, of 617 Forrest av., Ann Arbor, Michigan.

The combination living and dining room affords flexible living area with a view of the garden. Hardwood plywood paneling faced with richly-grained hardwood veneer is specified by the architect for stability and permanence and to create an atmosphere of warmth and comfort. A modern glazed partition, screening the entrance and storage wall, may include a built-in radio or television screen.

Bedrooms and bath form a separate unit. All of the wardrobe-type closets have sliding doors of hardwood veneer—affording ease of maintenance which is a feature of all hardwood veneer surfaces.

The kitchen contains ample storage space and provides direct access to the service entrance with its convenient clothes closet and stairway to the basement. A built-in breakfast nook also provided.

Total floor space, with an absolute minimum of hall area, is 990 sqare feet, a useful figure in arriving at local building costs.

Protected by a low-pitched roof of colorful, fire-resistant asphalt shingles, this modest home will blend into the color pattern of its neighbors if situated on a city lot, or will look equally attractive when individually color-styled for an open country setting. The exterior is designed for either shingle or clapboard siding to contrast with the color of the asphalt roof, with an attached car-port giving added distinction.

(Detailed building plans for this house are available from Walter T. Anicka, 617 Forest Avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich. Refer to Plan No. 203.)

Fire Protection Essential For Costly Modern Home

The sharp curtailment of new residential building in 1951, together with tighter government controls, indicates that many prospective home-buyers will have to look to existing rather than new homes. Since all this increases the value of a used house, now is the strategic time to improve its appearance and construction.

Of top importance is the use of fire-resistant structural materials. The most serious existent peril to homes is fire. There weer about 400,000 home fires in 1950, averaging over 1,000 fires daily. The danger of fire is particularly acute at this time of year because of continuous use of the home heating system during the coldest season.

Build Fire Barriers

To minimize this danger, it is suggested by the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information, that home-owners replace combustible structural parts with non-combustible materials where possible and put in effective fire-retarding barriers where none exist.

The most critical area in the house is the basement. Fire originating there can quickly spread through unprotected openings. An effective check is non-combustible ceiling in the basement. Cement or gypsum plaster on lath is suitable or this purpose.

For the same protective reason, ire-stops should be inserted in walls and partitions. Usually gypsum blocks or short lengths of wooden 2 by 4s are satisfactory. Purpose is to slow up the blaze and prevent flames from spreading up through open areas such as stairways.

Use Insulation

Underwriters recommend that mineral wool insulation be used as a fire barrier for this purpose. This material, which cannot burn, is pneumatically blown through a hose into hollow spaces between studs, and between attic floor joists. National Bureau of Standards has shown that a wood lath and plaster wall so protected will stop the passage of fire for one hour or more; with metal lath and plaster, the time increases to one-and-one-half hours.

The thermal insulation provided by mineral wool also helps prevent overheated heating equipment by reducing the load on the heating system and ending the necessity of wasteful forced firing.

Sparks Cause Fires

There must be adequae protection from roof fires, since sparks on roof from nearby conflagrations are a leading cause of home fires. Fire-resistant materials, such as asphalt shingles, should be used to cover new roofs or to re-cover worn, flammable old ones. A blanket of mineral wool under the roof will prevent the rapid spread of flames.

Home-owners should be sure that their heating equipment is engineer-approved for adequacy and, together with fireplaces and flues, cleaned regularly. The wiring system should be installed or extended only by competent electricians and should be able to carry the load required.

Bathroom Still Coldest or Hottest Room

Although great progress has been made in bringing beauty and convenience to the bathroom, it is still often the most uncomfortable room in the house. It is too cold in winter and too hot in summer.

Winter discomfort sometimes is caused by lack of sufficient radiation, but more often is due to loose-fitting windows and cold walls which lack insulation. The cure is to weather-strip the window and to blow the concealed wall spaces full of mineral wool, which will bring the walls to within two or three degrees of room air temperature.

Oppressive heat in summer also is usually caused by lack of insulation, particularly if the bathroom is on the top floor. Unless protected by full-thick insulation, the sun beating on the roof quickly penetrates the interior, making the bathroom 15 or more degrees hotter than the outside air.

Use Garage for Drying Clothes In Bad Weather

An umbrella-type revolving clothes-dryer in the garage is useful for drying clothes in stormy weather.

This type of dryer usually has a metal sleeve in which the central upright fits and rotates. If it is not so equipped, a length of pipe can be used.

A small hole the size of this sleeve is easily drilled through the garage floor. The hole should be of sufficient depth to bring the top of the sleeve flush with the floor surface. The dryer can be quickly inserted and removed.

Light, Heating Affect Growth Of Youngsters

The kind of lighting, seating, decorating and heating found in junior's room at home, or in his classroom at school, have a direct bearing on his health, development and learning, according to Dr. Darell Boyd Harmon

Dr. Harmon, who is currently consultant on classroom and program planning to a large heating appliance company, was for 10 years director of the Division of School Health services and associate director of the Division of Material and Child Health of the Texas state department of health. Says he:

"Educators and parents have failed to realize that the relationship of a child's physical, mental, psychological and social problems are so closely knit that no one of them can be upset without upsetting all of them and without upsetting the child. Successful growing up requires that the child develop along many parallel lines at the same time. His play room and his school room should help—not hinder—him from so developing."

Co-Ordinate Rooms

Dr. Harmon believes that a play room or a classroom should be so "co-ordinated" that lighting, decoration, seating, heating and other physical factors should provide a surrounding which meets the needs of the child.

"Bad lighting," he says, "can distort the child; his eyes, his muscles, his body structure, his learning. To see properly the child adjusts not only his eyes but his head, his trunk and his entire posture."

Dr. Harmon has set up scores of "co-ordinated classrooms" throughout the nation. He begins by making the room a better place to see. He prescribes a window treatment and painting plan that makes the most light available, plus a rearrangement of seats to enable the children to make better use of the lights.

A child sees, he says, not by direct light coming in from the windows, but by diffused light reflected from the walls, ceilings and furniture. The problem is to harness the window light otherwise wasted by spreading it by reflection throughout the room.

The importance of sound comes second, he says. It is not limited to volume, but rather to the direction and evenness of distribution.

Kitchen Storage

No kitchen shelf should be more than 72 inches above the floor. Therefore wall cabinets should not be placed more than 15 inches above the counter-tops of base-cabinets.

Because drawers offer more accessible storage, base cabinets of best design are fitted with drawers instead of shelves.

A storage cabinet above the refrigerator makes use of waste space, but because it is beyond convenient reach it is suitable only for storage of seldom-used items.

Approximately $300,000,000 worth of gold has been taken from the Homestake mine, at Lead, South Dakota.

Use Old Barrel To Make Picnic Tables, Stools

For backyard picnics or rumpus room, a table and stools can be made economically from a barrel and some nail kegs.

Saw the barrel in half, leaving the center hoop in place to hold the staves together. Invert the barrel, and over the wooden top attach four nailing strips at points equidistant around the circle. These nailing strips should be thick enough to reach the barrel rim. Now saw a circular piece of Masonite quarter-inch tempered hardboard the size of the barrel top or overlapping six to 12 inches, depending on how large a table is required. Drill and countersink holes in the hardboard and attach the new top to the nailing strips with flat head screws. Give the barrel a primer and two coats of outdoor paint, and it's ready for picnic, card game, or reading material.

The nail kegs are made comfortable by topping one head with a double thickness of a resilient insulating material. Cover this padding with a square of flexible colored plastic material and tie it in place with a leather thong. The keg slats may be painted to match the barrel table.

There is no official difference—no specifications to fit—a brook, a creek or a river. All three names have been applied in many different ways in local usage.

SAVE OIL with a

There are two reasons why you'll burn less oil if you heat your home with a new GILBARCO GWA Warm Air Conditioner.

First — the counter-flow principle of heat transfer employed in the unit extracts the maximum of heat from every drop of oil.

Second — the patented Economy Clutch action of the oil burner eliminates the building up of heavy deposits of heat-wasting soot on the inside heating surfaces of the unit.

Let us give you full information on these two outstanding advances in oil heating, the price, and our convenient easy terms. There's no obligation whatever. Call us today!

Schuman Plan Is Bright With Promise for Europe

Six nations stand on the verge of an historic step toward European economic unity. Their representatives already have initialed the bold Schuman plan. If foreign ministers and parliaments ratify the action, the plan will take effect.

It is a treaty for the pooling of all coal and steel facilities in France, Western Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Nothing like it has ever before been seriously contemplated in Europe.

If the Schuman plan works, barriers to the free flow of coal and steel will be knocked down in the six countries. Rigid national cartels—groupings to fix prices and production quotas—will be wiped out. A free market featuring free competition will replace them.

The coal and steel industries of the participating nations would be governed by new international institutions. The high hope is that this proposed integration would boost production, improve and enlarge productive facilities, raise living standards in these countries.

* * *

Not to be overlooked is the prospect that this economic integration could serve as a preliminary to broader unity in the European economy, and as a basis for ultimate military and political unification.

The old European habit of living within a national shell will not die easily. It would be foolhardy to expect too much of this beginning effort, or to ignore the practical difficulties of the treaty's application. But unquestionably it deserves to be hailed as a courageous and constructive act of statesmanship.

The original credit goes to Robert Schuman, who as French foreign minister conceived the plan last May. But the real spadework has been done by Jean Monnet, chairman of France's delegation to the treaty-drafting conference. He has toiled long and devotedly to achieve this momentous objective.

The Schuman plan, if ratified, will be in force for 50 years at least. It will provide, too, the first great postwar test of Western Germany's intentions. In this treaty the Germans have been invited to become peace-loving, respectable members of the European family. The world will watch closely to see how they perform in this somewhat unaccustomed role.

* * *

As we've noted, the French had to be brave to volunteer the shelving of their ancient feud with Germany. They are breaking with the past and projecting a future for Europe along wholly new lines. Federation is proposed as the real way to end feuding.

The Schuman plan is open to all comers, especially to Britain, which is strong in coal and steel. Thus far the British have held aloof, fearing to handicap their insulated Socialist economy by entanglements on the continent. The French example ought to embarrass them considerably.

But this is no time for carping criticism. The occasion calls for warm expressions of satisfaction that there are men in this troubled era with the courage and imagination to attempt so striking an advance toward solving urope's economic ills. Every lover of freedom and peace should hope the Schuman plan is ratified—and that it works.

RUTH MILLETT

'She Is All We Have'—Better Fix That Situation

Writes a mother: "Our only child, a daughter, was married a little less than a year ago and she and she and her husband are living in a town a thousand miles from us.

"They don't have money to visit us, and we can probably get away only about once a year to visit them. Don't you think we would be wise to sell our small business and our home and go to live in their city After all, she is all we have."

Don't even think of pulling up stakes and following your daughter. If she is all you have in life, that is a situation you had better correct.

For she has her own life to lead now. Her first duty is to her husband. You shouldn't even dream of trying to live the rest of your life through her.

Start living on your own and leave your daughter and her husband free to do the same.

START AGAIN

After all, you and your husband still have each other, which is all that you had when you started out together. Get busy planning and doing things together. See more of your old friends—and make some new ones. Make some plans for the future you can talk about and work toward together.

If you miss having young people around, see if you can be a real friend to some of the young couples you know. There is so much an older woman has to offer young people, if she is willing to put herself out to be a friend to them.

Above all, if you have been in the habit of writing your daughter how lonely the house is without her, how empty the days are now that she is gone, and similar complaints, cut it out. You shouldn't let yourself cast even a small shadow on her happiness. Nor should you get her in the state of mind where she feels torn between her loyalty to her husband and her love for her parents.

While she is busy making a new and complete life for herself, you get busy doing the same thing. It can be done at any age, you know, by anyone with courage.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, (NEA) — Hips are back in Hollywood thanks to an Italian lass named Sylvana Mangano and Gene Tierney is admitting that she's leading the hip-hip hooray parade in "The Mating Season."

Gene, still rounded and Venus-shaped on the set of "The Secret of Convict Lake," made no secret about it.

"My husband," she said, "likes women to be heavy. I weighed almost 135 pounds when I made 'The Mating Season.' It doesn't interfere with the chic of a woman to have curves. And there's no trouble photographing her. I'd like to keep heavy."

Howard Keel's box-office click at MGM should make the casting director of another major studio blush. In 1941 before he landed in the road company of "Oklahoma," Keel was screen tested at the rival lot. He remembers:

"It was one of those 'revolving stool tests.' I sat on a stool and the camera turned while I revolved. The casting director took one look at the test, said 'Impossible' and threw me out."

LEGAL EAGLE

Ginny Simms has retained Jerry Geisler to work out her financial settlement problems with Hyatt Dehn . . . It's the film's director, Chuck Walters, who's put MGM's prize mermaid in such a happy mood that she's even laughing over Fanny Brice's crack about her. "Wet she's a star. Dry she isn't."

Sitting beside the Copa Club pool at the Beverly Wilshire hotel, where part of the film is being shot, Esther bubbled about Walters:

"He's the first director who has ever helped me with my acting. It's a whole new world. We rehearse and then I do it in one take. Working with him is like going to drama school. It's wonderful."

It's still Esther's belief that she can't swim forever but that with good direction she'll eventually be able to mothball the bathing suits.

The Sap Is Running

VOICE of the PEOPLE

"WHICH WAY?"
Dixon, Ill.

Editor,
The Telegraph:

I for one, of many, was hapy to see an interested citizen bring up the subject of "City Manager" form of government in reference to the city of Dixon, in this column Wednesday night.

I know as well as a good number of other Dixon citizens that the City Manager type of government does work and it is the ONLY type that WILL work in the interest of the city's progress and the citizens as a group. It has been and is working today in many cities both small and large from coast to coast. One only has to go to our neighboring state of Wisconsin to see it work and work well.

In the first place, the managing of a city the size of Dixon is a full time job and should be treated as such.

Dixon or no other city of its size can be run properly from a store or a shop in spare time, or time stolen from that business for a "snap" decision on civic matters. Neither you nor I could manage our business on a part-time basis nor would we hire anyone to manage it for us whom we knew would be forced to do just that. Neither would we hire someone who would try to run our business from a pool room, bowling alley or the card room of the Elks club. Yet we have done just that very thing in the past and by the last vote on this question pertaining to our city, it looks like we were going to do it again! The only way a business or a city (which is a very big business if you ask me), can be run in this manner is into the ground. We bury our faces like the ostrich, oblivious to the needs of our city, oblivious of the passing parade (and I do mean PASSING.) We settle ourselves down and accept things as they are and the only thing a city can point to with any questionable pride is that there is money in the treasury and they are not in debt. Neither was a caveman in debt, how could he be? He never bought anything to better himself with, nor did he have the intelligence to recognize a need for anything. Money in the treasury or being out of debt never gave any city adequate fire or police protection, never brought gas and water to outlying districts. It never helped improve roads, put in street lights or cleaned streets. It never brought more industries to the city. In fact, it never did anything, not even collect interest.

Is that something for a city to be proud of? Not in any form of sanity. Dixon is just starting to get the mud off its face and the dust out of its eyes and become conscious of the fact that things are moving at a much faster pace today than even ten or fifteen years ago and, be it good or not, we as a city are going to have to move at an equal rate or be left behind in the dust and sink back into the mire while our neighboring cities thrive and progress. Who knows, in some dim distant year some adventuresome soul will chop his way through the dense wilderness and discover the ruins of what once was a prosperous city called Dixon.

If we cannot at present move progressivaly into a City Manager type of government, we do have it in our power not to stop where we are or slip back where we were. Sure mistakes have been made and some bungles, too, but remember this—the only way to not make mistakes is to do nothig at all, which is the most deadly mistake any city can make or ever has made. We can not improve by disapproving. Neither can we go ahead by looking backwards without crashing into something sooner or later. No business, no government ever made any great strides by staying on the black side of the ledger all of the time. Our own federal government has not been in that position for so long that historians must be consulted to determine just when, if ever, it was. I am proud of Dixon. I was born here and as far as I know Dixon will always be my home. Even if some unforeseen event changes that staus, Dixon will always be in my heart. Yes, I am proud of Dixon, not just for its natural God-given beauty nor for its money in the treasury, nor for its being out of debt. But I'm proud of the things it has, great things, beautiful things. Things for which someone dared to go in debt for or to spend the treasury money for, things the people of Dixon, both past and present, took a chance on and won! That is the American way of life, always sticking our necks out and then pulling the rest of us up to it. That is the stuff progress is made of, and progress is the stuff life is made of. Anything short of progress is slow death, and Dixon is still too young to die.

A DIXON VOTER.

DOG LOVERS
Dixon, Ill.

Editor,
The Telegraph,
Dear Sir:

This is about dogs and the so-called lover of dogs.

Last night our baby was sick, and after having walked the floor and just got her comfortably tucked in her bed, a pack of dogs gathered outside our house howling and barking and fighting until it was enough to waken the dead.

Needless to say, the baby didn't get any rest. Our city could use more money they say, so why not tax the dog lovers a stiff fee. That will prove their love for their precious mongrels that roam the city in packs—day and night.

Also, there is a lot of wasted energy put into flower beds, to say nothing of the expense just to have your property ruined by wolf-sized dogs.

There's nothing more disgusting than to have a pack of dogs gather beneath your window for an all-night session of love-making after you've slaved away on a late shift at the factory.

I suggest an 8 p.m. curfew for the dogs—inside the dog-lovers' own homes—or the dog pound.

Against Dogs

Tribes in the mountains of Morocco still regard a camera as an instrument of the devil, fiendishly designed to capture and imprison men's souls, says the National Geographic Society.

Q—In what year was the Brooklyn Bridge completed?

A.—In 1883. Some refused to use it at first, believing it unsafe; today, the original steel cables, trusswork and suspenders carry 37,000 vehicles a day.

* * *

Q—Was Henry W. Longfellow related to John and Priscilla Alden?

A—Through his mother's family Longfellow was descended from John Alden and Priscilla Mullens, whom he made famous in his poem "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

* * *

Q—When did the United States first issue paper money?

A—The United States had no Federal paper money until the Civil War emergency made it necessary in 1862 and the first greenbacks originated. Prior to that, notes of banks and private companies were circulated.

What's RIGHT?

You feel a friend has been neglecting you lately.

WRONG: Tell him so.

RIGHT: Make allowances for the fact that he is probably busy and don't risk ruining the friendship by being too demanding.

TODAY'S BOOKS For a BETTER TOMORROW

Library Hours: 10:00 a. m. - 9:00 p. m. daily.

Anatomy of Paradise, by Joseph Chamberlain Furnas. A competent reporter has made fascinating reading in sorting facts from legend about the Hawaiian Islands.

Introductory Radio Theory and Servicing, by Herber J. Hicks. Elements of Radio, by Abraham and William Marcus. Two new books on radio in answer to recent requests.

America's Baby Book, by John C. Montgomery and Margaret Jane Suydam. A companion book to "America's Cook Book"; contains instruction and advice on all phases of infant care.

How to Stop Killing Yourself, by Peter Joseph Steincrohn. Another of the many books which strive to comfort people caught in the vise of mind and body.

My Six Convicts, by Donald Powell Wilson. A psychologist who spent three years studying six convicts in Fort Leavenworth federal prison was induced to make a book of his findings.

Road to Survival, by William Vogt. A grave and alarming view of diminishing supply of food produced by a wornout soil of the world and an increasing population in need of more food.

Rommel, the Desert Fox, by Desmond Young. A biography of the famous German general written by a very admiring Englishman.

Stormy Range, by Dwight Bennett. A new western story.

Come Home at Even, by LeGrand Cannon. A story of the emigration of four people from Norfolk and Lancashire to Puritan Salem in the 1630's.

Operation Heartbreak, by Duff Cooper. A strange story of love and final sacrifice a quiet Englishman gave to his country. He had wanted to be a soldier and in a way, he was.

The Man Who Sold the Moon, by Robert Anson Heinlein. A collection of stories by the leading Science Fiction specialist.

Ride Home Tomorrow, by Evan John. A long historical novel of the fall of Jerusalem to the Saracens in the 12th century. The chief character is an ex-patriot Norwegian viewing the history. Critics are comparing it to the Waltari books and the publishers are hoping.

The Age of Longing, by Arthur Koestler. Another important novelist tries to show what the near future will be like with Communism rampant all over the world.

Candlemas Bay, by Ruth Moore. Another fine story of Maine, the Ellis family and the friends and neighbors. This is a novel for everyone.

Round the Bend, by Nevil Shute. Shute's writing always appeals to men. In this his latest he tells of an airline built with few funds. The location is in the vital oil fields of the Near East and the crux of the book is the employment of Asiatics.

Clearing in the Sky, by Jesse Stuart. The latest collection of the Kentucky poet's short stories.

A Little Night Music, by Mary Jane Ward. The author of "The Snake Pit' 'deals this time with a frustrated, middle-aged spinster who is over-shadowed by the dead father whom she idolized.

Jacoby on Canasta

More to Samba Than Rules

By OSWALD JACOBY

There is, of course, a great deal more to the new game of Samba (three-pack Canasta) than just knowing the rules. A good player will get much better results than a poor player.

As in Canasta, your object is not to meld out as quickly as possible on every single hand but to make the most of your cards. When you have good cards you should try to keep the hand alive in order to meld as much as possible. When the opponents have better cards than your side, your object should be to meld out as quickly as possible in order to prevent them from running away with the game.

Don't bother to make the initial meld from your hand. Wait for a chance to pick up the discard pile. However, if the other side gets the discard pile it is then all right for you or your partner to meld from the hand.

Making the initial meld from the hand does not enable you or your partner to take the discard pile later on with one matching card and a wild card. (This can never be done in Samba.) The only possible advantage of making the initial meld is that it relieves your partner of the burden of making the count.

This is seldom necessary at Samba because you draw two cards and discard only one, thus gaining one card per round. In a very short time, there are so many cards in your hand that it is no hardship at all to make the minimum count.

After the opponents have taken the first substantial discard pile, it usually pays for your side to meld in order to prepare for a fast out when your opponents get control of the discard pile, but the chances are that you will want to do so.

In your initial meld avoid a rank that has already been melded by the opponents, for such a meld starts out with two strikes on it. If you cannot make the minimum count in any other way it is better to wait a little longer in the hope that your hand will get better or that your partner will meld in the meantime.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questtions in his column.

The Doctor Answers

See Your Doctor Promptly If Bladder Trouble Starts

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

For some reason which is hard to understand, many people are more inclined to neglect or ignore pus or blood in the urine, painful or burning urination or similar abnormalties more often than almost any other symptom which could be serious. Perhaps the reason is that so many urinary signs tend to come and go. But whatever the excuse, postponing a search for the cause is dangerous and too often leads to serious trouble which could have been avoided by prompt action.

Among the common urinary symptoms is the presence of pus—usually accompanied by burning sensations—in the urine. This indicates the presence of inflammation, usually actual infection, somewhere in the urinary passages from the kidneys on down. It is well to find just where this comes from—and start treatment before the condition has become chronic.

One of the common locations for inflammation is in the bladder itself. This is called cystitis. In addition to causing pus to appear in the urine, cystitis is likely to produce some pain, and chills and fever are by no means uncommon.

The lining of the wall of the urinary bladder becomes inflamed, swollen, and red. If this is allowed to go on too long the wall of the bladder may become thickened, its capacity lessened, and a state of chronic difficulty may go on for years.

RAPID TREATMENT

Most cases of cystitis are caused by germs, though chemicals or other irritating substances can also bring it on. Now, however, thanks to the many preparations which attack germs, the treatment of most forms of cystitis (if found early) is more effective and more rapid than it used to be.

Moreover, the use of an ingenious instrument, called the cystoscope, makes it possible to look into the bladder and tell quite accurately what is wrong and just what part of the bladder is involved.

But the doctor cannot drag patients into his office who need attention. It is therefore up to anyone who has pus in the urine or any other suspicious symptom to act promptly.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Biscuits Supreme

How do your biscuits rate—like the proverbial bride's? Miss Irene Cottingham, 4-H specialist at a leader's training school held in Princeton, last week, discussed food standards and gave us the hint of using just a little cream of tartar. Research shows up the contribution of this tiny bit of material to tenderness—note methods following recipe—since the way you handle dough determines flakiness.

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder, (double active)
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
2 teaspoons sugar
½ cup shortening
⅔ cup milk (or 3 T. powdered milk in ⅔ cup water).

1. Sift measured dry ingredients together—also the dried milk, if it is used.
2. Cut in fat—using pastry blender—until mixture resembles course meal.
3. Add milk (or water if dry milk is used).
4. Stir all ingredients until just moistened.
5. Then knead this four or five times.
6. Pat out, or roll to ½-inch thickness—fold over and roll out again—fold over a second time and roll out again. This develops the desirable layering and flaking.
7. Cut with a floured cutter.
8. Bake in oven at 450 degrees Fahrenheit, 10-12 minutes.

These biscuits are fine made in a skillet when cooking at the outdoor fireplace. Bake them in the hot skillet about six minutes, turn and bake about six minutes on the other side.

16th Annual Leisurecraft Camp

Anyone who has interests in directing music, games, folk and square dancing, informal dramatics, nature lore and crafts, would find it valuable to gain new suggestions and help by attending the Leisurecraft and Counseling camp which is scheduled for April 30, to May 5, at 4-H Memorial Camp near Monticello. Through group discussions and demonstrations, one can gain new attitudes and ideas for organization and management of school, church, community, youth and camp programs.

Resource leaders are Miss Grace Walker of the National Recreation Association, who is a community dramatics specialist; John Klasses, Bluffton college, and Howard Tanner, the Handcrafters, Waupun, Wis., designer and specialist in crafts. Recreationists and local leaders are expected to attend from Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Because of the nature of the camp and limited space for activities, only 100 registrations can be accepted. Reservations close by April 25. Contact the Lee county home adviser if more information is desired or reservation wanted.

Housecleaning Safety

Keep safety foremost in your mind during those spring housecleaning days. The use of improper and unsafe equipment, haste or overtiredness may mean an accident for you or other family members. Especially in a national emergency, we need to practice 100 per cent safety rules to avoid delays and lost time. This is so true for our rural people in Lee county who are bound to face some labor shortages this year.

Use a sturdy metal stepladder in cleaning windows, cabinets, and other high places. Be sure the ladder is placed on the level. Never use a chair, box or other makeshift ladder.

If you already have a ladder, check the steps to see that they are in good condition. Invest in a new ladder, if necessary; the cost is little compared to hospital expenses that may result from a fall.

Don't place cleaning equipment and supplies or magazines and newspapers on stairways or in other traffic lanes. Such habits invite accidents.

In using furniture or floor polishes, be sure there is no flame in the room. Some polishes contain linseed oil or turpentine, which are inflammable.

Space housecleaning jobs during the season so that you will not become fatigued or overtired from trying to do too much at one time. To keep alert, rest between jobs.

Easter Morning Breakfast

A few minutes' preparation today will help you serve Easter breakfast in a jiffy. You are probably going to hard-cook some eggs for the children's baskets; so just add a few extra for a breakfast dish, called "eggs ala goldenrod on toast". This dish doesn't take very much time on Easter morn.

Hard-cook the eggs—remember a good homemaker doesn't "boil" eggs, rather she hard-cooks them. Eggs to be tender, must be cooked at low, medium temperatures. Eggs are simmered for about 25 minutes in hot water. When they are cooked, dip them in cold water so that the yolks won't discolor . Peel the eggs and store them in the refrigerator. Then oven-toast thin slices of bread, to make dry melba toast.

Then, all that will be left for your final job on Sunday morning is to make a medium white sauce. This is made by using two tablespoons each of butter and flour, one-half teaspoon of salt and one cup of milk. Add to this white sauce, the chopped hard-cooked eggwhite and about one half of the yolks. Mix and pour mixture over the melba toast—which might be slightly rewarmed.

Force the rest of the yolks through a strainer, and sprinkle them over the sauce and egg mixture. These yolks look like colorful goldenrod, and thus is why the name is applied.

CUB ROOKIE IMPRESSIVE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., (AP)—Bob Schultz, formerly of the Southern association, did all right in his first pitching assignment with the Chicago Cubs. Schultz, a lefthander, gave up a run and only three hits in the four innings he worked in yesterday's 6-2 exhibition loss to the Pittsburg Pirates. He walked one batter, hit another and struck out one. The score was tied 1-1 when he left the game.

Exchange Student Delivers Telegraph in Franklin Grove

THE DIXON EVENING Telegraph has a carrier whose home is in Bensheim, Germany. She's Miss Leisel Schader, left, who visited the newspaper offices Wednesday on her 19th birthday. She is showing the Wednesday issue to her friend, Klara Weiler, from the French zone in the southwest part of Germany. Both are exchange students and seniors in Franklin Grove high school. Nineteen-year-old Liesel has been in the United States since July, 1950, and resides in Franklin Grove with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Willard. She has been delivering the Telegraph since January of this year. Leisel hopes to gain employment in the United States and make her home here before her scheduled return to Germany after her graduation in May.

Offers to Meet Chinese Leader For Peace Talk

cessions were necessary to settle the Korean affair.

". . . There should be no insuperable difficulty," he said, "in arriving at decisions on the Korean problem if the issues are resolved on their own merits, without being burdened by extraneous matters not directly related to Korea, such as Formosa or China's seat in the United Nations."

The reason, he added, is that Red China's "exaggerated and vaunted military power" has been blunted in these ways:

1. Continual air and naval bombardment of Red supply lines caused grave shortages of military necessities among frontline troops.

2. Communist "human wave" assault tactics have served only to pile up losses, as United Nations troops became accustomed to them.

3. Red China has proved it lacks the industrial capacity and the raw materials to supply its troops with the heavy equipbent necessary for modern warfare.

4. United Natonsi forces have unchallenged control of the air and sea, and a resultant stranglehold on communications, supply and transportation.

"When this control exists as in our case, and is coupled with an inferiority of ground fire power as in the enemy's case, the resulting disparity is such that it cannot be overcome by bravery, however fanatical, or the most gross indifference to human loss."

MacArthur told reporters upon his return from his 14th visit to the war in Korea:

No Significance

"No further comment would seem to be necessary with reference to the 38th parallel, the status of which has been so thoroughly discussed in recent statements from Washington, London and other capitals. As a matter of fact it has never had any military significance.

"Our naval and air forces cross it at will and both ground forces (Reds and UN troops) have done so in the past."

In slow deliberate tones he continued: "I have directed the Eighth Army to do so again if and when its security makes it tactically advisable."

"Everything goes well at the front."

The general said there still was no heavy ground fighting.

Peace Prayers Dominate 1951 Easter Rites

Sunrise Services, Masses to Greet The Dawn Sunday

(By the Associated Press)

Christians of the Old and the New World prepared today to celebrate the Easter miracle of the risen Christ in sunrise services, pontifical masses and pilgrimages to holy places.

A record number of pilgrims attended services and visited shrines in the drought parched Holy Land.

In a world beset with anxiety, prayers for peace dominated the 1951 Easter observance.

Churches—both Protestant and Catholic—were crowded throughout the United States yesterday for solemn Good Friday services. Stock exchanges were closed in most countries.

Shops were filled with last minute buyers of Easter finery.

In New York—filled with the influx of visitors—a close watch was kept on weather prospects for the annual Fifth Avenue Easter Parade, which will be televised.

Message to Oppressed

Francis Cardinal Spellman sent an Easter message to the people behind the iron curtain saying that Americans would pray tomorrow that the celebration of Christ's resurrection would be "prophetic of your own delivery from persecution and enslavement."

A recording of the message was made for the National Committee for Free Europe and will be beamed in several languages to eastern European nations by Radio Free Europe.

In Jerusalem, before the door of the darkened basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, the Easter theme of the rebirth of Christ was enacted with the traditional lighting of "The New Easter Fire." Sparks struck from flint and steel ignited wood and kindling in a brazier which in turn will be used to light ceremonial candles and sanctuary lamps darkened over Good Friday.

Prepare For Feast

The holy city, crowded with pilgrims, ended its traditional holy week services of mourning last night and prepared for the joyous feast of the resurrection. Pontifical high mass in the basilica tomorrow morning will be attended by diplomats in formal attire.

Thousands of Europeans and many Americans made the Good Friday journey in the footsteps of Christ through the winding cobblestoned streets of the old walled city, the storied last journey to Calvary.

The earliest observance along Via Dolorosa was by a group of Anglicans who made the journey at dawn.

Grants Audience

In Rome, for the first time since the end of the 1950 holy year, Pope Pius XII prepared to hold a general audience in St. Peter's basilica for some 8,000 pilgrims and tourists, most of whom came from France. Others came from the United States, Germany, Spain, and other European countries.

In the Philippines, at Novotas, a Manila suburb, thousands of spectators watched Good Friday rites in which scores of flagellants seeking atonement for their sins, beat each others backs.

The flagellants are members of an extremist religious sect who scourge and whip themselves in an outgrowth of a 12th century practice of self-castigation.

Dixon Coal Freight Rate Is Lowered

The Dixon chamber of commerce has received word from the Illinois Commerce commission that it has approved a lower coal freight rate from the mines at Middle Grove, Ill., to Dixon.

The rate has been reduced from $2.38 a net ton to $2.16 a net ton. The chamber of commerce had sent a telegram to the commission Tuesday requesting the lower rate.

A commission hearing on the rate, set for Monday, March 26, has been cancelled.

Local Highway Heads Attend Road Session

County Highway Superintendent Fred Leake, Jr., and members of the road and bridge committee of the Lee county board of supervisors attended a quarterly meeting of highway superintendents from 10 northern Illinois counties Thursday.

The all-day meeting was held near Rock Falls. William Hauck, county superintendent of Whiteside county, led a discussion on county road load limits. Lee county has an eight ton live load limit on black top roads, Leake pointed out.

Hauck and M. J. Norby, Rock Island, reported on a recent committee meeting of all county highway superintendents in the state.

The morning session included motion pictures and talks on metal products used in road work. Highway superintendents from Lee, Henry, Bureau, Rock Island, Whiteside, Carroll, Ogle, Stephenson, Jo Daviess and Winnebago county and their guests attended. A total of 40 was present.

Members of the Lee county road and bridge committee attending were Carl Spangler, chairman, Frank Sproul, Ed Mau, Milton Vaupel, and Seth Anderson.

PERSONALS

Miss Dorothy Armington has returned from a 10-day visit in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hintz are in Minneapolis, Minn., to spend Easter with their daughter, Alice, who is engaged as an occupational therapist in the Minnesota Society for the Blind in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Manning called on Dixon friends and relatives Friday en route from Sarasota, Fla., where they spent the winter. They enjoyed a visit to the state fair in Tampa and pronounce it one of the very best ever seen. Mr. and Mrs. Manning brought back some beautiful fruit, delicious grapefruit seedless $1.25 per bushel, 46 grapefruit. The Mannings left Dixon 28 years ago to make their home in Seattle, Wash., to which city they are en route.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McIntyre who have been visiting in the southern part of the state will return home next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham Hockaday of Kansas City, Mo., arrived Thursday evening for a visit with Mrs. Hockaday's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stager, Sterling. They will spend some time in Grand Detour at "Ogleside," the Stager cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. John Mulnix will arrive home Sunday evening from a holiday spent in California.

Mrs. Gertrude Malloy and Mrs. Earl Drew, Dixon, and John Powers, Amboy, are visiting today with William McCoy, Dixon, who is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, Chicago.

Miss Donna Streibich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Sharp, 1817 North Brinton avenue, stricken by a mild case of polio three weeks ago, is improving and is expected to be up in two or three weeks. She has been receiving visitors.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Atty. Devine, Dixon, May Be Demo Supreme Court Nominee

ROCKFORD—Atty. John Devine, Dixon, is listed as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for supreme court jurist from the sixth supreme court district.

Delegates from the 12 counties in the district meet at 2 p. m. today at the Nelson hotel here to name their candidate who will oppose Justice William Fulton, Sycamore, winner of the GOP nomination.

If Devine is chosen, he must poll 104 of the 207 and a fraction votes of the district's delegates.

Strongest candidate in the race is Attorney Jerome J. Downey, Rockford, who will have the support of the strong Winnebago county delegation. Both Downey and City Judge Walter R. O'Malley, Aurora, have announced they are candidates.

A group of attorneys, all Winnebago county delegates, announced Friday they would support Downey. O'Malley is expected to be backed by at least 30 delegates from Kane county. Winnebago county has 62 and a fraction votes while Kane county has 50 and a fraction.

The voting strength of the 12 ccunties is Boone, four; Carroll, six; DeKalb, 11; Jo Daviess, six; Kane, 50; Kendall, three; Lee, nine; McHenry, 13; Ogle, nine; Stephenson, 17; Whiteside, 12, and Winnebago, 62.

Samuel A. Guzzardo, chairman of the Winnebago county central committee, will preside as temporary chairman with Devine expected to preside as permanent chairman.

Rochelle Drive Collects $925

The Rochelle March of Dimes drive has collected $925, an incomplete report showed today. A final check of industrial donations will be made shortly.

The play, "Heaven Can Wait," will be presented by members of the Rochelle high school senior class May 11. Miss Alice Muschler is the director. Tryouts for parts are now being held.

VOICE of the PEOPLE

"EASTER VOW"

The joy which I know is far past belief
As I enter the doorway at dawn,
And there in the presence of our loving God
It seems that life's burdens are gone.

There's quiet and peace one cannot explain,
And a warmth which no fire could give,
And I kneel by the altar to thank the dear Lord
For this wonderful land where I live.

I know that He suffered tortures untold
But I'm certain my prayers aid Him now
As He helps me, daily, to live as I should
And I, therefore, solemnly vow

To worship our Lord and live by His word
And to strive to be kindly to all
To cherish the Sabbath and pray for those men
Who are weak and, therefore, might fall.

To assist all my neighbors, whatever the task
To be honest, sober and kind
And always to honor my country
Where men may know true peace of mind.

I swear to uphold the laws made by man
As well as those which He planned
And to try every day to do a kind deed
To lend someone a firm, helping hand.

CUB PROSPECTS

Looks Like Another Year of Anguish for Frisch, Fans

Bruins Can Hope Only to Beat Out Pirates for 7th Place, Scribe Says

By GAYLE TALBOT

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Frankie Frisch still takes defeat as hard as he did in the days of the "Gas House Gang" at St. Louis, and so it pains one to announce that the popular Fordham Flash faces a bad summer as he tries to yank his Chicago Cubs out of the nether regions of the National league.

The Cubs are one of the richer teams, with a picture ball park in the nation's second largest city. Once they were a power to be reckoned with. But of late they have run out of players of championship caliber, and they seem not to be spending the kind of money required to build another winner.

Frisch is inclined to be morose these evenings. He could have gone on being a radio announcer. The best he will say is "Well, we ought to be more experienced." The only thing he can look forward to, for sure, is beating out the Pittsburgh Pirates again. The Pirates, frankly, are a scandal.

Cubs Lack Punch

Although the Cubs have been winning their exhibitions against inferior pitching, they do not have the batting power to keep it up once they begin looking at top stuff day after day. Their only proven .300 hitter is centerfielder Andy Pafko, who slugged 26 homers last season and is coveted by every manager in the league.

Hank Sauer, veteran leftfielder, drove across 103 runs last year but struck out far too often. Frank Baumholtz, up for another try after having posted an awesome .379 mark in the coast league, has clinched the rightfield job. He is supposed to be a "banjo hitter," but he has been getting real distance this spring. Hal Jeffcoat and Ron Northey, the latter temporarily benched with an injury, will see some outfield duty.

Schmitz, Rush Valuable

After Pafko, the club's two most valuable properties probably are Johnny Schmitz, veteran southpaw pitcher, and Bob Rush, towering young righthander. Both started out in great form last year but faltered badly in midseason, mostly through wildness. Frisch can only hope his two aces will go all the way this time.

Dutch Leonard, who celebrates his 41st birthday tomorrow, will continue to toss his knuckler in 30 or 40 relief stints. Johnny Vandermeer, the old double no-hitter, still is around, as are also Warren Hacker, Walt Dubiel, Doyle Lade and Johnny Klippstein.

Jackson Returns

Ransom Jackson, back in camp after hitting a solid .315, plus 20 homers, for Springfield in the International league, appears to be beating Bill Serena out of the regular third base job. He has been powdering the ball. Roy Smalley and Wayne Terwilliger, whose hitting falls far short of their fielding, are fixtures at short and second, respectively.

Although he had expected it, Frisch still felt a wrench the other day when the army took his first baseman, Preston Ward. Frankie had fully expected Ward to become one of the best this year.

It looks now as though Dee Fondy, the antelope who hit .297 for Fort Worth last year, will start the season at first, to be followed before too long by Phil Cavarretta, the old reliable. Kevin Connors, up from Montreal, has not impressed.

Sawatski Loss Painful

Another service loss which brought anguish to Frisch was that of Carl Sawatski, a husky young catcher who appeared about ready to put some real punch in the bottom of the order.

Left to carry the load are veteran Mickey Owen, far past his best, and Al Walker, a .230 hitter. Forrest Burgess, who hit .327 for Springfield, will be carried and could see much service if his throwing continues to improve.

At best, it is a club which will blow hot and cold, giving the leaders real grief at times, as it did last year, but falling back in the end for lack of pitching depth and hitting.

REMEMBER THIS DIXON FOURSOME?

IT WAS BACK IN the spring of 1947 when this quartet was the scourge of Dixon's track opponents and Art Bowers would be happy to uncover four more to run the mile relay in 1951 as these boys ran it then. Three of these runners now are on the Beloit college track squad. Pictured are, left to right, Bryan Cannon, who is attending Dubuque university but is not out for track this spring; Joel Lehman, Harmon, Beloit quarter-miler; Carroll Schumacher, Beloit distance man and relay team anchor man and Jack Schultz, who is a consistent point earner in the dashes at Beloit.

HUGH'S VIEWS of SPORTS

By HUGH HOUGH

ONE OF THE GREAT SUCCESS stories of this sports year reaches what may be its climax tonight when Harry Combes' cast of young-old Illini step onto the Madison Square Garden boards to meet mighty Kentucky.

Adolph Rupp

Harry Combes

By all the usual pre-season standards used to rate basketball teams, this Illinois basketball team had no business ever getting as far as the Garden. It had two starters, Don Sunderlage and Rod Fletcher, back from the flashy but disappointing 1949-50 team. Along with this pair from last year's team, Combes retained Ted Beach, some said just for old times' sake. Beach had never displayed as much basketball savvy in college as he had under Combes at Champaign high school.

TO ADD TO THESE HOLDOVERS, Combes admittedly had one of the most promising crops of sophomores ever to grace a Big Ten campus. But, remember, they were still sophomores and still nothing more than "promising."

You could have named your own odds on the Illini's chances of winning 13 out of 14 Big Ten starts before the conference season started—and before the current purity drive made odds-making unfashionable.

SOPHOMORE LADEN TEAMS just don't roll up those kind of records in the bruising Big Ten, where it is common scheduling practice to find a team hitting the road for a tough game on Saturday night, piling aboard a sleeper after a fast shower and then invading another unfriendly gym for a game Monday night.

But Combes' Kids DID roll up that kind of a record and this week proved that it was no fluke with a convincing win over Columbia, and a not-so-convincing decision over North Carolina State.

TONIGHT, THEN, ILLINOIS faces its biggest test of the season. Kentucky has been too much of a hurdle for Illini teams in the past. But things could shape up a bit differently this year. For one thing, the glitter of Madison Square Garden and the Big City which tended to blind Illini teams of the past, should be absent tonight.

The boys have been in New York for almost a week now, so the skyscrapers can't look quite as tall as they did last Monday. And much of the lustre that has traditionally coated the Big House of sports—Madison Square Garden—should have tarnished somewhat during the unearthing of the "fix" dirt several weeks ago.

SO THOSE GAMBLERS NEW YORK'S bobbies missed during the recent Garden purge might be wise if they refrain from selling too short this club of Combes' when it starts matching baskets with Rupp's Rifles.

But whatever the outcome of tonight's renewal of a series between two cage powers, these Views offer a tip of the typewriter lid to Combes and his Kids for an interesting, entertaining basketball season.

And we might add this P. S. plea to Uncle Sam: How about leaving those sophomores and their teammates intact for next season to see if they can beat the Big Ten jinx against repeating?

* * * *

ONE FOOTNOTE TO THE ABOVE might indicate that Kentucky has not always been too successful in the Garden. It was there that the Scripture-quoting Rupp uttered one of his most famous sermons.

THE OCCASION WAS AFTER the Wildcats had lost a particularly tough game and Rupp was sure that the referees and the rest of the Big City had been responsible for the loss. Said the Baron:

"We were strangers and they took us in."

Wildcats Rated 6-Point Choice In NCAA Final

Kansas State Goes Against Oklahoma Aggies in West

NEW YORK, (AP)—Kentucky and Illinois, rated two of the best teams in the country, clash tonight for the Eastern NCAA basketball championship in a game that promises thrills galore.

Kentucky, rated No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll, is favored to win by six points, but the champions of the Big Ten were conceding nothing.

A crowd of more than 18,000 is expected to pack Madison Square Garden for the final New York collegiate doubleheader of the season. North Carolina State and St. John's of Brooklyn meet in the first game at 6:45 p.m. (CST) to determine third place in the Eastern eliminations.

Kansas State Battles

Meanwhile, at Kansas City, Oklahoma A&M and Kansas State will battle for the Western title and the right to meet the Eastern winner for the national crown at Minneapolis on Tuesday. The Aggies and K-State reached the Western finals last night by beating Washington and Brigham Young, 61 to 57 and 64 to 54, respectively.

NCAA AT A GLANCE
Last Night's Scores

8 p. m.—Brigham Young vs. Washington (for third place).
East-West final at Minneapolis next Tuesday.

The majority of coaches who watched Kentucky and Illinois both explode in the closing minutes to rout St. John's and N. C. State in Thursday's Eastern semi-finals, favor Kentucky.

But Adolph Rupp, the Kentucky coach, is a bit cautious. "Frankly, I'm worried," he said. "We'll have to play a lot better than we did against St. John's. Illinois looks mighty good and my boys are tired."

Wildcats Have Height

On paper, both teams shape up pretty even, although Kentucky has an edge in height with seven-foot Bill Spivey topping the list. However, Illinois' Bob Peterson, 6-8, may equalize Spivey's rebound work.

Both teams have demonstrated they can come from behind, do not get flustered under pressure, and can explode at anytime.

On Thursday Illinois, playing against NC State's zone defense, calmly sank set shots at long range. Then, when NC State rallied to go ahead at 66-65 with five minutes to go, Illinois exploded for an 84-70 triumph.

Kentucky Explodes

Kentucky, tied at 43-43 with five minutes left, broke loose for 16 consecutive points in the remaining time.

DePaul was the only team played by both Illinois and Kentucky this year. The Illini won, 69-68. Kentucky twice won, 63-55 and 60 to 57.

Two years ago Kentucky drubbed Illinois, 76-47, in the NCAA "And we haven't forgotten that," cry the Illini rooters.

3 Former Dixon Trackmen Gather Points for Beloit

BELOIT — (SPECIAL) — Three former Dixon high school track stars are being counted on heavily by Coach Herb Hodges as the Beloit college track team prepares for its busiest season.

Carroll Schumacher, Jack Schultz and Joel Lehman are the former Dixon athletes now running in Beloit track clothes.

Schumacher, stringy distance runner, has already established himself as one of the outstanding small college track stars in the country. He holds the Midwest conference mark in both the mile and cross country and can be called upon to run either the 880 or two mile with equal ability.

Schumacher Achors

Last spring Schumacher anchored teams that set a record in the Purdue relays and won at the Drake relays. And already this season he has paced the Buccaneers to the No. 1 spot in the Chicago Invitational meet held recently.

Another Dixon boy and one of the veterans returning from last year's squad is Jack Schultz. A dash man, Schultz has established himself as a consistent point maker.

Lehman From Harmon

The third former Dixon trackman who does his running now for Beloit is Joel Lehman of Harmon. Lehman attended Dixon high school his senior year. At Beloit he runs his specialty, the quarter mile.

After competing in its final indoor meet next Saturday, the Purdue relays, Beloit's squad will undertake a nine-meet outdoor season before competing in the NCAA show at Seattle, Wash., in June.

Furgol Credits Golf Lead to Borrowed Iron

GREENSBORO, N. C., (AP)—Marty Furgol, with an assist to Bill Nary, was working on a two-stroke lead as the field headed into today's second round of the $10,000 Greensboro open golf tournament.

Furgol, 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro, who has only one big time victory to his credit, beat the field of 158 and a high wind to shoot an opening round 68—three under par—yesterday and take a two-stroke lead over his nearest rivals, Arthur Doering of Richmond, Va., and Jim Milward of Green Bay, Wis.

Nary Gets Credit

And Marty gave a major portion of the credit for his success to fellow-professional Bill Nary of Chino, Calif.

Furgol, whose Houston open victory last month gave him his first major tournament win, used Nary's pet iron and also put into practice some expert instruction he has recently received from the Californian.

That trusty iron was quite a weapon. On the 11th hole Furgol laced one to within four feet of the pin, leaving himself an easy putt for a birdie three.

Bill Fires 81

As for Nary—Bill, playing without his pet iron, helped himself to a big fat 81.

Doering and Milward, the only others in the big field to weather the wind and beat par, each had 37-33—70.

Going into today's second round, three men were locked at par 71. They were Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Toney Penna, Cincinnati.

Stengel Breathes Easier – Reynolds To Pitch Soon

OAKLAND, Calif., (AP)—Casey Stengel, skipper of the New York Yankees, was breathing a bit easier today. The veteran manager had been told that one of his better pitchers, Allie Reynolds, will be available for regular duty during the coming season.

It was feared that Reynolds had a chipped bone in his right arm. But X-rays revealed that it was only an inflamed elbow.

Stewart's Bat Winning Spot In Sox Lineup

By The Associated Press

Ed Stewart, journeyman outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, is making a terrific bid to land a regular berth with the Pale Hose.

The 34-year-old Stewart, who has seen service with Pittsburgh, the New York Yankees and Washington, is whacking Grapefruit league pitching at a torrid .667 clip.

Stewart, who came to the White Sox in a deal that sent Mike McCormick to Washington, has pounded out 10 hits in 15 trips to the plate.

The speedy flychaser reached the high-water mark of his drive yesterday as the White Sox slaughtered the St. Louis Browns, 15-9, at Pasadena, Calif.

Turns Rare Feat

Stewart turned in one of the rarest feats in baseball as he drove in six runs in the first inning—a nine-run uprising. Stewart connected for two home runs during the bombardment, the first one came with one on and the second with the bases loaded. He later added a single to the Sox's 12-hit attack against four St. Louis pitchers.

Heavy hitting also featured the Boston Braves' 16-8 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics at Bradenton, Fla. The Braves salted the game away by scoring six runs in the third inning against Hank Wyse and six more in the fourth against rokie John Kucab.

Nats Top Giants

Lefties Bob Kuzava and Al Sima pitched the Washington Senators to a 1-0, six-hit victory over the New York Giants at St. Petersburg, Fla. The Nats scored in the second on a walk, single and ground out.

Willie Ramsdell, Bud Byerly and Gerry Blackburn pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-0, five-hit triumph over the Boston Red Sox at Sarasota, Fla.

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored five runs in the seventh inning to down the Chicago Cubs, 6-2, at Los Angeles. Wally Westlake homered to start the rally. Ted Beard knocked in the next three runs with a double and Ralph Kiner climaxed the uprising with a triple.

In archight action, San Francisco spoiled Joe DiMaggio's homecoming by blasting the New York Yankees, 18-5; Cleveland bounced Oakland, 7 to 1, and the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 1 to 0, on the snappy five-hit twirling of Kenny Johnson and Jocko Thompson.

At Fricso, DiMaggio disappointed the gathering of 20,181 by failing to hit in three times at bat.

MUSIAL ENJOYS SPRING

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (AP)—Stan Musial says he's never had a better spring season at bat. He got a double and two singles yesterday against the Philadelphia Phillies. Total hit production for the St. Louis Cardnals was five.

The eight remaining girl keglers will take over at the Recreation tomorrow to pare the list down to four for the quarter-finals the following Sunday. With Jane Fisher rolling a new record for the tourney with 517 last Sunday and Phyllis Carson right up around the 500 in the previous match it looks like it will take some good rolling to end up on top this year . . . Shot of the week we noticed was Al Nelson Thursday night's perfect 300 to convert the 4-7-9-10 split for Studebaker Sales . . . On the other side of the ledger was Frank Pettinger Sunday night in his last game for Four-Leaf Clovers striking in the tenth and then nonchallantly tossing two gutter balls, which gave the game to the Sad Sacks by 17 pins . . . Walt Dunbar lopped 10 pins a set off his games of 154-144-131 . . . Our own version of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde is Don Houck, who is a perfect gentlemen in the Classic and Major loops and turns hideous in the City league. Don had 673 in Monday's Classic loop, and 573 in the Major last night, and then on the next shift in the City league totalled 433 . . . Eldon Myers spaced his games 24 pins a set with 130-154-175 . . . When the high team honors have to be split two-ways in the Major loop on a 503 series it's something unusual, in this 170 average or better league, but that's what happened on the Rathskeller squad last night when Dale Senneff and Jim Burke shared what little glory you can get out of that kind of a total . . . Bunny Dietrick spaced her games five pins with 147-152-157 . . . In Colliers this week is a feature on the women's national match game champ, with the explanation that she became tops when she set 5 pins a few games and noticed that a ball with a lot of spin took out the maples when it connected with the head pin, and decided to throw a spinner, but we don't think that's all the story behind a champion, as we've noticed the same thing but our trouble is hitting the head pin . . . Marie Trader had nine pins between her games of 56-65-74.

65-Foot Shot Tops Peoria Diesels in NAAU Semi-Finals

DENVER, (AP) — Two sensational final minute victories last night rocketed the hot-shooting Colorado A & M college team and San Francisco's silky - smooth Stewart Chevrolets into tonight's finals of the National AAU basketball tournament.

Slender George Yardley, jumping like his legs were coiled springs, powered the San Franciscans to a 66-63 win over defending champions Phillips 66ers in three pulsating overtime periods. The Bartlesville, Okla., club was seeking its eighth title in nine years.

A whiz kid from Brooklyn, Johnny O'Boyle—as Irish as his name—fired a 65 foot shot in the last second to send the Colorado Collegians sailing past the Peoria Caterpillar Diesels, 59-57.

O'Boyle was carried from the floor on the shoulders of fellow players while the more than 6,000 fans in city auditorium rose to their feet and gave him a deafening ovation for nearly five minutes.

EYES MASTERS

BEN HOGAN

Hogan Practicing For Masters as Texas Applauds

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP)—Ben Hogan looked toward the Masters today—the only major tournament that has eluded him in one of golf's greatest careers.

The little man practiced at Colonial country club while Fort Worth talked about the world premiere of the picture of his life—"Follow the Sun."

The premiere went on at three downtown movies last night. Some 6,000 saw the film that told the story of the Fort Worth caddie who climbed to fame, then climbed back after being so severely injured in an auto-bus crash it was feared he never would walk again.

At the end of the picture, Hogan made a little speech. He talked about Ben Hogan Day in Fort Worth—an occasion which brought a resolution from the Texas senate. He said: "Val (his wife, Valerie) and I want to keep this day sort of sacred for us forever."

Mikan Injury Slows Lakers In NBA Play

(By the Associated Press)

If the Minneapolis Lakers are to repeat as NBA champions, George Mikan will have to shake off that old ankle injury. Because without the big center, the Lakers are lost.

The Lakers were foced to play 33 minutes last night without Mikan—and they took a severe 108-88 drubbing from the Indianapolis Olympians. The victory enabled Indianapolis to tie their best-of-three playoff series at one game apiece.

Mikan saw action only during the first 15 minutes. He was held to two points as the Olympians raced to a 28-7 lead at the end of the first quarter. Then the ankle injury sent him to the sidelines, and the Olympians were assured of the much-needed victory.

Alex Groza, who usually battles Mikan for scoring honors, flipped in 40 points. Vern Mikkelsen, who replaced Mikan, netted 30 points. The deciding game will be played Sunday in Minneapolis.

The New York Knickerbockers, with a chance to gain the Eastern division finals against Syracuse, entertained the Boston Celtics in an afternoon game at Madison Square Garden. The Knicks hold a 1-0 edge in the best-of-three series.

In another deciding playoff match, the Rochester Royals entertain the Fort Wayne Pistons at Rochester tonight. The clubs are tied at 1-1 in the best-of-three series. The winner will play either Minneapolis or Indianapolis for the Western division title.

Your Host May Face Bullet After Injury

ARCADIA, Calif., (AP) —Your Host, the crack California four-year-old who broke the elbow in his right forelegs last Jan. 13, apparently is doomed to die.

That's the opinion of the veterinarian who has been nursing the thoroughbred since that bad spill in the San Pasqual handicap at Santa Anita park.

"What good is a three-legged horse?" asked Dr. J. E. Peters rhetorically last night. "If we could have operated on him a month ago, we might have saved him for stud purposes. Now it's impossible to do anything at all to restore him to four legs."

Your Host's insurance has been reported as high as $250,000.

Dr. Peters said he will confer with owner William Goetz and insurance representative Sunday or Monday to determine how much longer the horse shall live. Your Host has been kept at the Santa Anita stables here.

HEAD IN A WHIRL—Tuneful is the Easter bonnet worn by Dorothy Anderson of San Francisco. Made from a "plumber's friend" and a dozen 45-rpm records, the creation won first prize as the most original bonnet in a department store's spring millinery contest.

PIE IN THE EYE—With a satisfying "splosh," New York University student Stewart Jackson fits a gooey pie to the face of fellow student Milton Berkwitz. Professors and undergrads at the university pay five dollars for such a privilege in the annual pie fling, with proceeds going to a student union building fund. Most popular targets, as you may have guessed, are the professors.

HOOK AND LADDER LOOK—A hook and ladder truck from the Wichita Falls (Tex.) fire department enables a Consolidated inspector to check out this big B-36 bomber, about to fly from Sheppard Air Force Base to Fort Worth, Tex. The long ladder puts the inspector up high enough to check hinge pins in the bomber's rudder assembly—a necessary pre-flight inspection.

Ultra-Modern Subway Would Use Rubber Belt Conveyor

NEW YORK, (AP)—Plans for an ultra-modern subway, using a rubber belt conveyor instead of tracks, have been submitted to the New York City board of transportation, Goodyear Tire & Rubber company announced.

The conveyor shuttle was designed by Goodyear and the Stephens-Adams manufacturing company of Aurora, Ill.

Intended for one of the busiest and shortest subways in the world, the shuttle between Times Square and Grand Central, its cost is estimated at $2,100,000.

Here's How

Here's how it would work:

Passengers would step onto a slowly moving platform, and from there into any one of 25 small, plastic domed cars. Cars and platform would be moving along at exactly the same speed—about one and a half miles an hour.

There would be no unloading at this platform; only passengers getting on. So the usual rush-hour free-for-all would be eliminated.

Each car has two benches that face each other, room for 10 passengers. When the car gets to the end of the moving platform it glides off the low-speed conveyor onto a bank of rubber-tired wheels. They send it whirling ahead until it matches the 15 miles an hour pace of the high speed conveyor which whisks the car to its destination.

Reverse Process

There the process is repeated in reverse. The cars slow down, discharge their passengers, swing around a huge wheel that points them in the opposite direction and take on new passengers for a return trip.

The designers state the system would move more passengers more safely and comfortably than the present four track system. They also said the line would get passengers where they want to go in less time and maintenance and operating costs would be considerably lower.

If you have a little leftover tongue add it to canned lima beans for a savory casserole dish. Season with onion, catsup, thyme, and a little viniegar if desired.

Boil potatoes in their skins often when you're cooking them for a family dinner. Latest research shows that cooking them this way conserves even more vitamins than baking them.

If you want to be economical when you are deep-fat frying, see that the fat isn't overheated until it smokes, and that the leftover is strained, refrigerated, and reused within a week or so.

Young Children Attend Nelson Birthday Party

NELSON—Mrs. Jacob Gall entertained young children Wednesday honoring the fourth birthday of her daughter Margery. The children spent the afternoon playing with Margery's toys. Later refreshments of candy, nuts and garen lolly-pops with paper hats as favors, and a birthday cake was served.

Those attending were: Penny and Billy Ortgiesen, Lee and Nancy Perkins, Susie and Connie Gale, Jeannie Weber, Glenda Hollingsworth, Donny Oiler, Susie and Jerri Holaday, Connie Remrey, Kathy Sharp, Bobby McDonald and Rickey Figeley.

Mrs. Gall was assisted by Mrs. Stanley Holaday, Mrs. Willard Miner, Mrs. Dillard Oiler, Nelson, and Mrs. Vernon Fritz, Rock Falls.

CARD CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Ernest Frerichs was hostess to the members of her card club Tuesday evening. Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. G. W: Bartholomew, Mrs. John Gale, Mrs. William Weber, Mrs. Eugene Ortgiesen, Nelson, and Mrs. Wallace Janssen, Rock Falls, attended. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Thompson.

Birthday Party

Wednesday evening a birthday party, honoring Paul Timmons was held at his home. Party guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fleskes, Dixon, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Young, Nelson.

At Legion Meet

Mrs. Harold Fifield attended the thirty-second anniversary of the American Legion observed by the Legion auxiliary, Wednesday evening in Buda, Ill. Mrs. Fifield is treasurer of the Buda auxiliary.

Entertains "500" Club

Mrs. William Weber entertained the members of the "500" club at her home Wednesday evening.

RFC DIRECTOR DEFENDS HIS RECORD—RFC Director C. Edward Rowe refers to a newspaper story as he defends his record before a senate subcommittee investigating the RFC in Washington. He demanded that the subcommittee declare that he has acted in "a perfectly ethical and legal manner.

Following the card game, refreshments were served at quartette tables decorated with an Easter motof. Prizes were received by Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Vess McCord, Rock Falls, and Mrs. Harry Remrey. Mrs. Jacob Gall will be the hostess in two weeks.

Paw Paw 4-H Girls Discuss Homemaking

PAW PAW — Nine talks on homemaking subjects were given at the Wy-Lee 4-H club meeting Saturday evening at the home of Elaine Truckenbrod. The club decided to attend church in a group April 29, National 4-H club Sunday. Refreshments were served by Mary Gaines, Elaine Peise and Carol Politsch.

The talks and the speakers were: Mary Gaines and Marilyn Schlesinger, "Leisure Hour"; Mary Englehardt, "Different Kinds of Flour"; Valoria Simpson, "What to Do First in Making Cookies"; Carmen Johnson, "Utensils for Making Cakes"; Bernice Hoelzer, "Equipment in the Sewing Room"; Mary Gaines, "Fashions"; Carol Politsch, "Picking the Pattern"; Marilyn Schlesinger, "Finding the Straight of the Material," and Delores Donoho, "The Seam Guide."

Auxiliary Party

Mrs. Homer Shriver, Mrs. H. R. Town, Mrs. H. C. Bartotn and Mrs. Henry Knetsch entertained the auxiliary at a card party at the home of Mrs. Knetsch Saturday night.
